Hello,

is it possible to display all content items in a frontpage and how?

Thank you in advance,
Stanko.

hmmm... you mean alphacontent articles? You can automatic setting that 50 articles so as on Joomla! can do ... if you have like 10000 articles, is that necessary to show all of them in frontpage in same time?

Mayby you specify your question or I don't understand this?

No, of course, I don't need 10000 articles to show at ones. ;)

Yes

I am not sure that I understand this, but, anyway how can I do that?

Mayby you specify your question or I don't understand this?

I have different sections, like Zakondodaja, EUL,... Under every section I have categories with same name, than, I have items which belong to one section and category.

Now, I want to show all items under all categories and sections at ones, in a front page...

Is that possible, and how?

Stanko.

Greetings,

I can't find it, what I found is: Show limit result/page box, is that what you were talking about?

What I need is to show articles on front page, just like when you click on category or section, than it shows on a front page items which belong to that article, what I need is to show them all, like in Joomla! administration panel under Content menu, a menu item "All Content Items".

Thank you,
Stanko.
