
3.0.2 Not showing all content items

Posted by lipex666 - 2008/02/08 21:46

Uninstalled old version and installed AlphaContent 3.0.2

In old vers in admin Section ID:and Category ID: worked.

On this new version having something in there say 54,60,45 or even blank makes no difference.

Cleared joomla cache, browser cache

So basically AlphaContent 3.0.2 is not showing all my content.

Not picking up Category or sections

* Updated ****

For anyone else having this issue the solution is:

Totally remove AlphaContent

Reinstall AlphaContent

Upon the new installation AlphaContent will search your content and reflect what you have.

AlphaContent does not update by itself (seems not to) on changing any Section or Category.

I have a similar problem with 3.0.2. I recently updated to Joomla 1.5.1 and now it just stopped indexing. Funny thing is that it does index up until the 12th. That was the last article posted before the migration started.

I am not convinced there is an issue with my database as the search does find the new articles without problem.

This problem seems to exist with 3.0.3 as well. Using it with my site now.

After installing, it will index all your articles, but any articles you add after installing it will not index. This is a huge bug. Any chance of getting it fixed?

Aside from this issue, it's a great joomla extension.

I have a similar problem, content items are not showing. I uninstalled and re-installed the alphacontent but the articles did not get index. The number of items are showing each category but when you click the link - no results. I think this is a bug. I hope it will be fixed.

Is SEF actived ? If yes, using SEO component ?

I do not have SEF activated and I am experiencing the same problem on version 3.0.3. Using Joomla 1.5.1 I didn't experience the issue on Joomla 1.0.14

If you need to reproduce on my site, I'd be happy to accommodate you. I love Alphacontent and am bummed out I can't use it now.

My issue is the same as for most others. It indexes articles once after installation and doesn't add any anymore after that. Any new article made after the installation of Alphacontent will not show.

Hi,

I have been having the same problem as those before me... I have a clean install, and really like this component. I just checked back to my site after the day away from the computer and the new content i added last night has shown up. When i first added it, nothing would show.. tried clearing joomla cache, global check in logging out etc, nothing worked. Now, the only thing different i've done is left it alone for about 20-24 hours. I have closed my browser... not that i can see that having anything to do with it, but thats my scenario... hope it helps with determining how to solve this.

I have...

Joomla 1.5.1

AplhpaContent 3.0.3

local install on my G4 Powerbook,

Apache/1.3.33 (Darwin) PHP/4.4.1

mySQL < 4.1.2

Cheers!

I tried with both cache enabled and disabled. Also emptied it all the time while testing. Did not make a difference. Have you got an idea yet of what could cause this problem?

Like I said, if you need to test this, I'd be happy to accommodate you. ;)

Same thing is happening to me, but it is random, some links show content, others do not show content with version 3.0.2

No content:

<http://www.hdrjapan.com/photo-essay/hdr-japan/traditional-japanese-archery/>

Content:

<http://www.hdrjapan.com/japan/central-okinawa/katsuren-okinawa/>
<http://www.hdrjapan.com/japan/northern-okinawa/bise-okinawa/>

I am not sure why.... :blink:

I really don't want to have to uninstall Alphacontent though, love the component.

Hi, was just playing around trying to isolate the problem and found another interesting part... I have a alphacontent menu item created to show all the sections and categories and it shows things that have been created in the past. I just created a new section and it does not show in this menu item. So i created a new alphacontent menu item and specified the section ID of the new content section and it shows fine. I then created a section category and it showed fine under the new menu item, however the content i then proceeded to create still does not show instantly... i imagin it will appear in about 12-24 hours.

Hope that helps to isolate the issue..

It appears that many people are having this problem, including me now. Yes, my cache is disabled. Nothing I seem to do allows me to show items I add AFTER I install AC.

Is there a link for me to download an older version that works with Joomla 1.5 that does not display this problem?

It sure appears that the component has some sort of cache stored which i cannot seem to find anyway to control. My joomla cache is OFF (set to NO) and if i manually clear my Joomla cache no progress.... So... what does AlphaContent do to "read" the DB for new articles/categories/sections? Is there a way to add a "Refresh" button in Alphacontent config?

Re:3.0.2 Not showing all content items

Posted by panzerknacker - 2008/03/21 23:42

I don't think a refresh button is the solution here, the component should simply add new articles on the fly as they get added by the author. Somehow the component doesn't pull the new articles from the database even when no cache is used.

Like I said, I would happily give the programmer access to my website if necessary.

Core SEF in Joomla 1.5.7 seems to cause some of these problems with AlphaContent 4.0.3, but the contact and link sections simply don't work.

i think i found the solution for this problem. everybody was talking about not working first, but working after x time. i first of all checked my general cache setting. nothing helped.

i am also using sh404SEF on this joomla and this component has got his own cache. in the SEF component I put the cache setting for Alphacontent on "nocache". this resolved the problem for me. i hope this is a help for you all and also a way to search for the developer to solve this problem permanently.

I found the problem to be caused by certain filter options for display of AC output. It is the default ordering selector under the component settings. These option do not work--they will return false "no result" messages:

Date Created ASC /DSC
Date Modified ASC / DESC
Hits ASC / DESC
Author ASC / DESC

I also get "no results" if I switch the ordering filter on the front end results page to "default ordering" for the contacts.
